

I gladly pay my XM subscription fees (3 in total) to allow wonderful variety, focused genres, and commercial-free listening. One of the most prized benefits is the ability to listen to the same high-quality transmissions over entire trips North-South and East-West, without having to search for local stations that are plagued with inane babble, annoying commercials, and often static. Please leave innovation alone... If you can not encourage change and progress, then please do not stand in its way!
